To Whom It May Concern:

On behalf of the Princeton University Undergraduate Math Club, it is my pleasure to invite the attached team from China to the tenth annual Princeton University Mathematics Competition (PUMaC). PUMaC has hosted international teams for the last several years, and the number of international teams has been increasing each year. We hope the students and their coaches listed here obtain their visas in time for our competition on November 21, 2015.

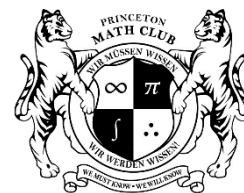

The Princeton University Mathematics Competition is an annual competition for high school students, organized entirely by students at Princeton University. Since 2006, hundreds of mathematically-inclined students have come to Princeton each year to participate in the competition, meet their peers, interact with undergraduates studying mathematics and other related fields, and visit the Princeton University campus. Our aim is not to simply single out the most talented students, but also to motivate all participants to pursue mathematics in their futures.

PUMaC has been lucky to attract teams from some of the best high schools and math organizations in the country to our all-star A division. This year, we hope to continue to host international teams so that American teams can meet their international counterparts and vice versa. This team from Shenzhen Middle School, Guangdong, China will help us reach our goal of allowing a diverse body of students to interact with each other and stimulate their interest in mathematics.

We hope these Chinese students and their coach have their visas approved in time for the competition. Attached is a list of names of the team members and their coaches which we are inviting. I ask that their visa applications be approved as promptly as possible to ensure that they have time to make proper arrangements to compete. If you have any questions or concerns, please do not hesitate to contact me by email at pumac@math.princeton.edu.

Sincerely,
